B Reading Comprehension

2 Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

It is often said in guidebooks that Egypt is the gift of the Nile. The Ancient Egyptians certainly must have believed this. Where else did their food come from except the rich black mud brought by the river during the annual floods? How could they transport their huge blocks of stone and their enormous statues? On the flood water of the Nile.

However, since the river is now controlled in Egypt by the High Dam at Aswan, there is no longer a flood every year as there used to be in the past. There are some people who see the High Dam as a mixed blessing. One disadvantage is that the Nile no longer brings the mineral-rich mud which used to feed the soil.

By the year 2025, Egypt will suffer from shortage of water.

As the population grows, so more people will need water for drinking, washing, etc. At the same time, more water will also be needed to irrigate land in the desert to provide a suitable environment for the growing population. So what can be done? Water can be re-cycled, that is to say, some waste water can be purified and re-used. Engineers can also search for more water underground. However, the Nile will always remain the major source of water for the country. Yet, the river upon which Egypt relies begins thousands of kilometres to the south, and is shared by other countries in Africa. Both Egypt and Sudan receive water from sources in Ethiopia, Kenya, Uganda, Zaire, Rwanda and Burundi. What would happen if these decided they needed more of water from the Nile? The answer is co-operation. Agriculture in Egypt depends almost entirely on irrigation, as there is hardly any rain. This is not true of some of the other Nile states, such as Uganda. Dams could therefore be built in these countries to provide water storage for Egypt at the same time, to provide a source of energy. Efforts could also be made to reduce the large loss. These are issues which will concern all the countries of the Nile in the next century in order to ensure that there is enough water for everyone.

2) Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

Hi Dalia,

You asked me to tell you about the interview that I had on Tuesday. It did not start very well. My appointment was at eight o'clock so I had to get up very early. Then there was a downpour as I was walking to the office so I was very wet when I arrived. However, there were two other people who were there for interviews too, and they also got wet! When it was my turn, the manager was very friendly. He looked at my CV and said that I had excellent qualifications. Then he asked me to describe myself. I said that I was sociable and conscientious. He asked me if I spoke any languages. I told him that I spoke English fluently. Then he asked me if I had done any volunteering. I told him that I often helped at a local charity for poor and disadvantaged children. He also asked me about my free time activities. I told him that I enjoyed weightlifting. He said that he found that surprising but also impressive!

He asked me why I wanted to work for his company. I explained that it had a very good reputation and that I had always wanted to work as a tour guide in a big organisation. At the end of the interview, he said that I was an excellent candidate and I was qualified to do the job. He explained that he would make up his mind about who would get the job in the next few days. I really hope that I get it. Write soon.

Best wishes,

B) reading comprehension

2 Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

In recent years, concern about the environment has been growing among all people. The public has become aware of many common, dangerous dumping practices which have been going on for years. These have increased as the population of all countries has grown. Recently publicity has drawn public attention to one form of environmental pollution – the dumping of hazardous chemical wastes .

These wastes include heavy metals (such as mercury) and other by-products of technology. Such chemicals cause lots of problems: cancer, brain damage, and high infant mortality rates .

Dumping of the wastes is difficult to supervise. And, in fact, even careful dumping has resulted in the destruction of whole areas.

When wastes are first put into a dump, they are usually sealed in large metal drums. As time passes, the metal rusts, and the waste materials begin to leak out into the surrounding soil. This has two effects on the environment. First, the local soil is often permanently destroyed and it must be removed .

Second, the chemical waste can sink lower and lower into the soil and reach underground water deep in the earth's surface.

Read the following passage and answer the questions:

J. K. Rowling is the author of the Harry Potter books. J. K.'s name is Joanne Kathleen. She was born in 1965 in a small town near Bristol, England. Joanne lived with her parents and her sister.

The Rowling family was not rich. Joanne did not go to special schools. She was a quiet child. She loved to read and write stories. Joanne went to Exeter University, and she finished her studies in 1987. She worked in different offices. In her free time, she wrote more stories. In 1990, Joanne's mother died. Joanne was sad and she wanted to leave England. She saw a job in the newspaper for an English teacher. The job was in Portugal. She had an interview, and she got the job. In Portugal, Joanne married a Portuguese man. The next year, Joanne had a daughter but she was not happy in her marriage. She left Portugal with her daughter and went to live in Edinburgh, Scotland, near her sister. Life was very difficult for Joanne. She took care of her daughter. She was alone, and nobody helped her. She had no money and no job. She lived in a small apartment and began to write stories again. Joanne first thought about the Harry Potter story many years ago on a train. Joanne liked to go to a coffee shop to write. She sat there for many hours. She drank coffee and wrote. Her daughter slept beside her. After five years, Joanne finished writing the first Harry Potter book. She sent it to many book publishers. They all said that they didn't like it. Finally, a publisher liked it, but the publisher said, "This is a children's book. Adults won't read it. You won't make a lot of money." In 1997, "Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone" was in the bookstores. J. K. Rowling was very happy. Her dream to publish her book came true. The book was famous all over the world. The publisher was wrong about one thing: Everyone loves Harry Potter – children and adults. Over 100 million books were sold in 1999. There are seven books in the series and over 450 million copies have been sold till now. Now Harry Potter books are in 65 languages, including Arabic. They are also available as audio books. These books have been made into an eight-part movie series by Warner Brothers. The first film was released in 2001.

2 Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

Have you ever noticed how busy the roads in Cairo are especially in the rush hours? Every year more and more cars are using them. These cars do a lot of harm. Not only do they disrupt the traffic but they also cause pollution.

Almost every family has a car. Some families have more than one. No wonder you see many traffic jams all over the city. Perhaps the worst jams are at the city centre. These long lines of cars crawling into Cairo waste time and money. Every day precious time is wasted while you are waiting impatiently at the traffic lights.

At last when you reach your destination, you have every right to feel kind of relief, but soon you face new troubles. There is no place to park your car. In Cairo it isn't easy to find parking spaces.

It is a problem that causes us trouble by day and anxiety by night. To solve this problem more car-parks should be built just away from the city centre. Then the drivers can leave their cars and catch a bus to their offices. Another solution is to build multiple storey garages. Wide , smooth, straight roads must be built now in place of the old, narrow roads. These roads must not pass through the city centre. They must not be crossed by other roads. This can be achieved by fly-over bridges. It is good to see such roads being built now. Cars and cycles should not be allowed on such roads. Let us hope that in the near future when people rush to work and then back home the roads will be as orderly as ever and traffic will flow without hindrance.

Choose the correct answer:

1 Traffic Jams are usually at their worst when.....

2 Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

Statistics show that the rapid growth in population creates problems for developing countries. So , why don't people have fewer children? It has also been found that only when people's education and living standards begin to rise , birth rates begin to fall. Now poor countries can't afford social services and old age pensions, and people's incomes are so low that they have nothing to spare for savings. So people need their children to provide them with security in their old age

Having a large family can be a form of insurance. Even when they are still young children can help on a small farm.

Improvements in public health services and medical care have assured that many more babies survive infancy and grow up. It has also helped the parents to live longer. No wonder populations are being added to both ends. These people have to be convinced that with smaller families, there will be more food, better schools, more employment and thus a better standard of living . this means changes in attitudes.

2 Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

Advertising has become a very specialized activity in modern times. In the business world of today, supply is usually greater than demand. There is great competition between the different manufacturers of the same kind of product to persuade purchasers to buy their own particular make. They always have to remind the customer of the name and the quality of their product. They do this by advertising. The manufacturer advertises in the newspaper and on posters. He sometimes pays for songs to be sung about his product on commercial radio programmes. He employs attractive salesgirls to distribute samples of it. He organizes competitions with prizes for the winners. He often advertises on the screens of local cinemas. Most important of all, in those countries that have television, he has advertisements put into the programmes whenever this is possible. Manufacturers often spend large sums of money advertisements.

We buy a particular product because we think that it is the best. We usually think so because the advertisements say so. Some people never pause to ask themselves if the advertisements are telling the truth.

Choose the correct answer:

1 We buy certain goods because

a) advertisements affect us b) we don't need them
c) supply is greater than demand d) we buy a certain make

2 Manufacturers advertise the goods they want to sell

2 Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

What is an ideal holiday for one person may be a very unpleasant one for another. The sportsman likes a kind of holiday which his lazy friend would find worse than his daily work while the lazy man's ideal holiday would leave the sportsman quite unsatisfied.

If I were allowed to choose my own holiday, I would go on a voyage in a modern passenger ship with a swimming pool.

Even if sportsman friend and my lazy friend came with me, they would both be happy; one would have plenty of games and swimming; the other could sit in a comfortable chair all day, looking at the sea and drinking lemonade. On a ship, one can do as one likes, when one likes. If one day I find an interesting book in the ship's library, I can spend the whole day reading and nobody will stop me. Perhaps the next day I shall want some exercise. Well, then I can play games with passengers until I am hot and sweating and ready for a bath. I can go and sleep in my cabin at any time of the day or night, I can get cheap drinks during most of the day, and I can eat as I like, choosing among a variety of foods.

But perhaps the greatest pleasure of a sea holiday is coming to new ports in strange lands, and going ashore for a few hours to see strange places, eat strange foods and hear a strange language talked around us. Whenever I think of my ideal holiday, it is the picture of a mysterious foreign city that comes to my mind.

Choose the correct answer:

1 A sports man is fond of

- a) playing games b) reading books c) eating much food d) sleeping early

2 The utmost pleasure of a sea holiday is

2 Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

For centuries, people have tried to conquer nature. They have built tall skyscrapers and bridge over rivers. But not all these efforts are successful. Bridges fall soon, and buildings collapse. even the pyramids in Egypt have problems, and the first few fell down.

People have built skyscrapers for years. It would seem safe to assume that they know how to do it.

That is what a large company thought when it built its new headquarters recently.

But soon after the steel- and – glass building was finished, the windows began to fall or crashing all over the streets. One windy night, 65 windows fell into the streets and had to be replaced by plywood الأبلكاش.

That's when people started calling the building the 'plywood palace'. This continued for years while a number of different solutions were tried, and lots of excuses were made . Lawyers for the construction company even said that it is normal for windows to fall out of skyscrapers, but that everyone was being unfair to criticize their building alone.

Finally, investigators found a mistake in engineering. The building's irregular shape caused it to sway too much in the wind . The problem is solved now, and the windows have stopped falling out.

But the building still has one unusual feature. Every day a guard examines it with binoculars to make sure the windows aren't starting to crack again. And what about the insurance company, architects , engineers, and builders? "they're all in court, suing each other".

Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

Coffee, tea and soft drinks usually contain caffeine. Caffeine is also found in chocolate, in medicine for colds and in drugs that keep people awake. In the United States, adults who use products with caffeine get an average of about two hundred eighty milligrams a day. This equals the caffeine in about two large cups of coffee.

A report this month in the Journal of the American Dietetic Association says adults drink nearly half of the coffee they did fifty years ago. But they still get most of their caffeine from coffee. In general, the more people drink, the more severe the effects if they miss a day.

Yet a recent report says people who drink as little as one cup of coffee a day can become dependent on caffeine. In fact, it says caffeine withdrawal should be listed as a mental disorder. Researchers identified several common effects, such as headaches and sleepiness. Some people have difficulty thinking. Others get angry easily or become very sad. The researchers found that half the people suffered headaches if they did love caffeine. Thirteen percent had a more serious problem. They were unable to work or do other normal activities.

These problems generally resulted twelve to twenty-four hours after stopping caffeine. Ronald Griffiths of Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Maryland, led the study. He noted that caffeine is the most commonly used stimulant in the world. A stimulant produces a temporary increase in energy. The good news is that people can free themselves of caffeine dependence. Researchers say people should slowly reduce the amount of caffeine in their diet.

2 Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

Plants have been used for treating illnesses since primitive times. Paintings in the tombs of the pharaohs show that plants were being used by the Ancient Egyptians for medicinal purposes. Today, some modern drugs are still based on natural herbs. Aspirin, for example, is based on the bark of the willow tree.

Natural remedies are attracting increasing attention all over the world. The advantage of herbal medicine is that the whole of the plant can be used: the powerful substance in the plant cures the-illness while the contents of the rest of the plant may help to prevent any harmful side effects. In this way herbal medicines may be safer than chemical ones.

Garlic is just one herb which has been used throughout the world as a cure for diseases as it is used to treat hair problems. Similarly, henna, which is known to be good for the hair, can also be used in the treatment of cancer .

If you pay a visit to a herbalist shop in Cairo, you will be struck by the different colours and smells. There are jars full of tree barks, roots, powders, oils and spices. The customer enters the shop and explains his symptoms to the herbalist, who will take notes, study medical reports and check his reference books before writing out a prescription. However, eighty per cent of those cent of those who consult a herbalist have already been to a doctor. As a result of the worldwide interest in herbal medicines ,Egypt has set aside 50,000 acres of land in Beni Suef and Minya for the cultivation of herbs with medicinal properties. If this experiment is successful lots of countries may import natural herbs from Egypt in the near future.

Read the passage then answer the questions:

My name is Sally. Last week, I had a very bad day. It was really a nightmare! I had a job . Interview . One morning but I forgot to set the alarm clock. I overslept and couldn't have a shower or breakfast. I went to the garage putting on my shoes and setting my hair at the same time. The car wouldn't start, and I was only able to make it work at the third time I tried. The traffic was awful and I arrived at the parking garage 5 minutes before the interview. Luckily I found a spot, but a guy in a red Mercedes tried to take it. I cut him off and managed to put my car there and – of course - he didn't like it, he complained not in a nice way and I had to tell him what I think of people like him.

I was quarreling with that foolish person when I slammed my finger in the car door, and I was so nervous that I didn't notice the keys were still in the car and locked it.

I didn't have time to deal with it at that moment. so I rushed to arrive for the interview on time and guess who the interviewer was: the guy I met at the parking garage! I wish I hadn't gotten up today.
